Jail for copper who stole cleaner's cash

BY SCOTT KIRK

scott.kirk@onemk.co.uk

A POLICE officer from Bletchley who conned a cleaner out of £31,000 was jailed for five-and-a-half years yesterday.

Cambridge Crown Court was told that Paul Whitehead, pictured right, blew the money on gambling, a luxury holiday and car repairs.

The 32-year-old of Buckingham Road targeted the trusting, vulnerable and dyslexic 56-year-old, who had worked as a cleaner at Luton Police Station where Whitehead was stationed.

After victim Paul Wilson retired on February 27, 2015 from his job of 37 years, Whitehead illegally used the police national computer to discover his address. He befriended him, sending him flirtatious texts, and over several months received £31,215 from him.

Whitehead, a policeman since he was 19 who has been suspended on full pay of £2,300 a month since October 2015, changed his plea to guilty at the last minute.

The court heard Mr Wilson had to return to his cleaning job at Luton because of the money he has lost.

In his impact statement read out in court, he said: "This crime has been horrible. I feel humiliated. I feel he bullied me and it's made me feel anxious."

Prosecutor Roxanne Aisthorpe said Mr Wilson had an inheritance from his parents, who he had not ever told he was a homosexual. Whitehead knew that and 'played' on it, she said.

As well as jailing him for 67 months, the judge ordered an investigation of Whitehead's finances under the confiscation of assets procedure so Mr Wilson could be repaid. He also made an indefinite restraining order.

Whitehead told the judge he intended to repay the loans.

Assistant chief constable Mike Colbourne said: "Paul Whitehead's conduct is totally unacceptable."

Care home set to return to its boozy roots?

A FORMER Olney care home is set to be transformed into a pub-restaurant with the potential creation of 40 jobs.

Oakman Inns and Restaurants Ltd has bought the freehold of Westlands House, in High Street. The company intends seeking planning consent to convert the Grade II-listed building.

Chief executive Peter Borg-Neal explained: "I have long been an admirer of Olney. We really like this part of the world and the success of the Navigation Inn at Cosgrove has provided further encouragement.

"We're always looking to continue to grow our reputation for providing a modern, relaxing atmosphere and a welcoming environment. A coffee lounge where mums can have a latte with friends; a restaurant where families can celebrate an anniversary, or simply somewhere where a young couple can have that special dinner together."

The new inn and restaurant will, if granted planning permission, be called The Cherry Tree after the June Cherry Fair.

The building's original address was 13 Market Place and the home of the Hipwell family, the local brewers and pub landlords, who lived there for almost a century.

Guilty: Phillip Allen has admitted making indecent images of children

Ex-teacher had indecent pics

BY SCOTT KIRK

scott.kirk@onemk.co.uk

A FORMER teacher at a city school has pleaded guilty to a catalogue of offences, most of which include possessing and making indecent images of children.

Phillip Allen appeared at Northampton Magistrates' Court on Monday to face seven charges.

The former RE teacher at Shenley Brook End School pleaded guilty to making 255 indecent images of children, of which 172 fell into Category A – the most extreme kind – followed by 46 in Category B and 37 in Category C.

Allen, 48, from Potterspury, was also charged with possessing two prohibited images.

Prosecuting, Jerena Tomaszewska told the court the images were found on three devices – Allen's laptop, iPad and an external hard-drive – after police officers raided the house he shares with his wife in June this year.

He is due to be sentenced at Northampton Crown Court on November 11. He has been granted bail, on the condition that he does not come into unsupervised contact with children under the age of 18.

Allen, who has frequently written for the Times Educational Supplement as a prominent figure in religious education, was told he could receive a sentence of up to one year for the crimes.

A statement from Shenley Brook End School said: "We take our safeguarding responsibilities very seriously. He is now not employed by the school.

"No information has been provided, which suggests these matters do not relate to any of our students, past or present, or children in the local area."

Gutted: Margaret Mann and John Mann with the damaged machine at the Re-Use Community Project

Thief steals £2k raised for charity

BY SCOTT KIRK
scott.kirk@onemk.co.uk

A COMMUNITY project has been left reeling after charity jars and boxes containing more than £2,000 were stolen.

Margaret Mann and John Mann only opened the new kitchen at their existing Re-Use Community Project store in Kiln Farm in August.

But just two months later the cash that had been donated to the Alzheimer's Society by customers at the kitchen and store was stolen overnight between Monday, October 10 and the following day.

Margaret told OneMK she is 'heartbroken' and hopes the culprit will be caught.

"All we can do is start again with the donations," she added.

"We thought it would be too heavy to take the jar, which most of the money was in.

"We work here seven days a week so when something like this happens it takes the heart right out of it.

"It hurts me more than anything - we worked so hard for that money.

"The work we do goes into the community and the community put that money in, so that money has been taken from the community."

Other charity boxes were also taken and the thief also tried to smash into a treat machine.

A police spokesman said: "We are aware of this incident that happened between about 5.50pm on October 10 and 7.30am on October 11.

"The offender gained access by smashing a window and then stole money from charity collections."

As previously reported, the opening of the kitchen was attended by Lock Stock and Two Smoking Barrels actor Dave Courtney.

Anybody who has information about the theft can contact police on 101.

Posters aim to tackle bullying

A SERIES of striking posters promoting equality have been launched by Milton Keynes Youth Cabinet as part of an anti-bullying campaign.

The six posters, which were unveiled as part of The Big Debate on Friday, focus on the key bullying issues affecting young people in today's world.

Featuring the strap line 'we are all the same underneath', the posters will be displayed in all secondary schools in Milton Keynes as well as other key venues across the city.

Mahi Joshi, a member of the youth cabinet said: "Bullying affects so many young people, we hope our work will help spread the message that we are all equal and bullying of any kind needs to stop."

The Big Debate saw

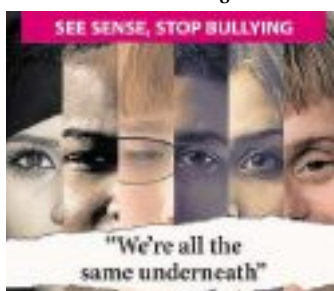

students from secondary schools across Milton Keynes gather to discuss issues with key community figures, including local MPs Mark Lancaster and Iain Stewart.

Cllr Zoe Nolan, cabinet member for children and families, praised the work of the youth cabinet, which is made up of 30 members, aged 11-19.

The anti-bullying campaign follows the election of the cabinet last year, which voted it as one of the highest priorities among almost 4,000 young voters.

"This is a great piece of work by the youth cabinet, they have taken an idea and brought it to life in a very creative way," Cllr Nolan said.

"I hope their work will show other young people that they can speak up about bullying and together we can all act to stop it happening."

Iain Stewart

His column written exclusively for OneMK

AS I write this article I am thinking of the events I have attended in the past few weeks.

I never cease to be amazed by the breadth of talents that we have in Milton Keynes.

The 2016 MKFoodFest held at Great Linford was a really fun (and tasty!) event with more than 45 stands offering a vast array of food and drink; the vast majority from the locale. I was fortunate enough to be there when Pete Winkelman called in and we had our picture taken with Turan T Turan, the chairman of the organising committee - what a great job he and his team did. I am already looking forward to next year's MKFoodFest!

Every now and again I come across a unique charity.

We have such a charity based in Kiln Farm. The Iheziefoundation collects unneeded text and training books and sends them to several African countries where they are distributed directly to schools.

To date more than 600,000 books have been sent in eight containers to reach over 1,000 schools and more than one million students.

The foundation's primary source of books is publishers but it also collects books from various charity shops, such as Willen, as text books are not great sellers! If you want to know more about the Foundation and see if you can assist visit <http://ihziefoundation.org/>

Your views about the rise in the number of families in temporary accommodation on our Facebook page /OneMKNews

Paul Kenny: The fact that Sainsbury's has a massive empty building that could allow genuine homeless people a bit of shelter at night from the harsh weather says it all about the way this country is run. The Government should force companies who purposely keep buildings empty to use it for the good of the people.

Ashley Gabrielle Lewis: I stopped the other day on my way back from the council to give a homeless man nearby money that I got out and sat with him for half an hour. He told me he's begged for help from the council and is willing to work again but the council refuses to help. How is this right in this country with all the resources we have?

Karen Bose: No-one in 2016 should be homeless or starving. The council should be doing something to stop this problem. Temporary shelters are okay short-term until something permanent can be found but we are coming up to winter.

Stuart Rouse: A mobile home park is a cheaper solution to houses and more affordable - I'd live in it.

Hayley Ramswell: They should make people down size when they don't need housing bigger than their needs. But they don't help people out with exchanges and people struggle with housing swaps. People in temporary accommodation are also far too fussy and do turn housing down.

Robyn Holman: This is no surprise - wages are low and rent/house prices aren't affordable for the 'average working Joe'.

Paul Meacock: I have a large amount of sympathy for those that are homeless for genuine reasons, for example extortionate rents, but not all homeless people are genuine.

Stevens John Ronald: 530 families in Milton Keynes in temporary housing when there's tonnes of empty properties.

Kat Bloice: My sister's landlord sold the house they were in and now she is homeless with three kids. She has had to go to an MP to help her because MK Council is refusing to. At the moment she lives with me four days a week an lives with my mum the rest of the time.

Rebecca Des-Forges: My son and I were homeless for three weeks and now we're in temporary accommodation with threats of getting kicked out after a week. I didn't put myself in this position - I just couldn't afford to rent in a private house.

Angela J Barker: My landlord has just sold the house we live in, we're being served a section 21 in the next few days.

Phillip James Webb: Sadly my family will be homeless or in temporary accommodation because our flat has been sold.

Sharon Gildersleve: MK Council could do more to help people move out of properties that are too large for them (ie one person living in a three-bed property). Currently it does nothing to help.

Shireen Hall: Nobody needs to be genuinely homeless in Milton Keynes. There are plenty of empty buildings available.

Lad is seen 'waving a gun'

A MALE was seen brandishing what is believed to be a gun and a metal pole in Bletchley.

In the car park of the McDonald's near to stadiummk between 5.20pm and 6.05pm last Tuesday, he was seen holding a metal pole and a little later, what looked like a hand gun. It was not pointed at anyone and no-one was hurt.

He left shortly after on the redway alongside the V7 Saxon Street, then went towards Beanhill.

The offender is described as white, in his late teens to early 20s, wearing a black, flat-peaked baseball cap with a red stripe around the edge, navy blue raincoat, with a hood and blue jeans. There were also a number of other youths there, some of whom were on bikes.

PC Clare Mountain said: "We are appealing for anyone who saw the group of lads on Tuesday evening and anyone who saw one holding a pole and then a gun." Call 101.

Driver jailed for worker's death

BY SUE WEBB

editor@onemk.co.uk

THE husband of a Milton Keynes worker who died when her car was struck from behind by a HGV as she waited in traffic has spoken of his relief after the driver was found guilty of causing death by dangerous driving.

Ayşe Yalcinkaya, 35, died on July 29 last year when her car was struck by a lorry driven by Clinton Dunkley, an employee of Alexander Prestige Haulage, as she waited to leave the M1 at Junction 14.

Dunkley pleaded guilty to causing death by careless driving, but after a trial in Aylesbury Crown Court, he was found guilty by a jury of the more serious charge of causing death by dangerous driving and sentenced to three years in prison and will receive a three-year driving ban.

Ayşe, a mechanical engineer who was a project manager with Network Rail, had been married to Tom Harris, 45, for less than a year.

Ruth Booy, an expert road accident lawyer at Irwin Mitchell, representing Tom, said: "While the time since Ayşe's death has understandably been extremely difficult for Tom and Ayşe's family to endure, they are comforted by the knowledge that the criminal process is over and the driver who caused Ayşe's death has been found guilty."

"Road safety is a cause we are passionate about and this tragic incident illustrates how important it is for road users to consider the safety of all of those around them. A momentary lapse in concentration can lead to accidents which often have terrible consequences for those involved and their families.

"We hope this incident will act as a reminder of the responsibility road users have for not only their own safety, but the safety of others."

Ayşe and Tom married in August 2014 after meeting in the USA in 2010 when they were both working for Lockheed Martin.

Tom said: "The time since Ayşe's death has been devastating for me and her family. I lost my wife that day all because of dangerous driving by somebody else. The time we got to spend together and the love that we shared was so special that she will forever live in our thoughts, our memories and most importantly our hearts."

"Ayşe was an accomplished person, a great friend, a loving wife and daughter and is greatly missed by all those that knew her."

Calling all giant key holders

NOBODY was able to open the safe at Intu Milton Keynes on Saturday that would have put them one step closer to winning a new car.

People who have keys but haven't tried to open the safe have been urged to head down to the shopping centre on Saturday at 10am to see if their key will open it.

OneMK launched the competition to give one lucky person the chance to drive away in a new car from Progress Suzuki last month. Organised with MKFM and Intu, we are gearing up to give away a Suzuki Celerio.

Each day clues will be given out by OneMK, MKFM and Intu. These will lead to the locations of 30 large cut out keys with top secret combinations on them.

Each Saturday key holders are invited to Intu to see if their combination will open a safe containing a golden key. On Black Friday, the golden key holders will be invited to see which one unlocks the door to the car, worth £7,000. See the clues each day at onemk.co.uk

Judge dismisses jailed drug dealer's appeal

A DISABLED drug dealer, who was caught in prison hiding banned items between his buttocks and in his prosthetic legs, has failed to get his jail term slashed.

Marvin Douglas, 35, previously of Hidcote Drive, Westcote, was jailed for nine years and nine months at St Albans Crown Court on June 19 last year. He admitted conspiracy to supply heroin and cocaine, possessing criminal property and dangerous driving.

Then on December 22 last year, at Cambridge Crown Court, he got an extra nine months behind bars after admitting two counts of having electronic communication devices in prison. He got another 12 months at Norwich Crown Court on July 5 after admitting three counts of unauthorised possession of mobile phones, chargers and SIM cards in jail.

Douglas was a serving prisoner at HMP Norwich when he committed his latest crimes and was awaiting sentence for the first possession offences, Judge Peter Rook QC told London's Appeal Court on Thursday. His cell was searched and he was strip-searched on October 10 last year and a package found wedged between his buttocks contained a mobile phone charger.

Then, on December 16 mobile phones, chargers and SIM cards were found during another search.

Some of the items were hidden in his prosthetic legs, the court heard.

The judge concluded: "We do not consider the overall sentence was manifestly excessive and this appeal is dismissed."

Athletes Taekwon-Do it with record

STUDENTS from the Kicks Taekwon-Do Academy in Newport Pagnell helped break a Guinness World Record at the weekend.

They descended on Broadgate, Coventry, with hundreds of others to smash the record for the largest Taekwon-Do display in the world and bring the record back to the UK.

In July the record was broken by 830 students from a group in India but 948 participants helped smash that on Sunday, as well as raise money for the Rainbow Trust, the leading children's charity providing emotional and practical support to families who have a child with a life-threatening or terminal illness.

Kicks Taekwon-Do Academy contributed £565.50 to that total and chief instructor Chris Clarke said: "We have all worked really hard over the last couple of months preparing. All of our hard work has paid off and my students should feel very proud."

Officer sacked without notice

BY SUE WEBB

editor@onemk.co.uk

A POLICE officer who shouted abuse at an elderly driver who had moved his car out of her way so she could pass has been sacked without notice.

On November 19 last year, while off duty, Det Con Kerri Driver drove up behind a parked vehicle in Beanhill, Milton Keynes.

The motorist, an elderly member of the public, moved his vehicle to allow Det Con Driver to drive past him.

Det Con Driver turned her vehicle around and drove back towards the man, stopping and shouting expletives at him.

She then parked her car a short distance away and continued to shout and gesticulate towards him as she exited her vehicle.

She was dismissed from Thames Valley Police on Thursday for breaching The Police (Conduct) Regulations 2012, following a four-day misconduct hearing at the force's headquarters, in Kidlington, Oxfordshire. The officer, who was based at Aylesbury Police Station, was found to have breached the Standard of Professional Behaviour on two occasions in respect of Authority, Respect and Courtesy, a n d Discreditable Conduct.

O n November 30 last year, while off-duty in Buckingham, Det Con Driver was involved in an incident in which she assaulted a female officer.

Woman bitten by 'hairy dog'

BY SUE WEBB
editor@onemk.co.uk

A WOMAN has been bitten by a 'large brown hairy dog with a wide face'.

At around 7pm on Monday, October 10 the victim was walking her dog along a foot-path down in bushes next to Stratford Road, Wolverton.

The large brown dog ran towards her and bit her on the back of her left leg, causing two deep puncture wounds.

The victim collapsed, lost control of her own dog, and the two dogs started fighting. The owner of the offending dog came over to the victim and stood over her as she was lying on the ground before walking off.

There was another man present, but he was stood out of the way and did not get involved. Both are white and of Eastern European appearance.

The dog owner is slim, around 6ft 2in, aged in his late 30s or early 40s and was wearing a khaki raincoat. The second man is slim and around 5ft 6in.

Following the incident, while the victim was walking home, she met several members of the public who offered to help but kept away as her dog was distressed.

PC Jo Gregory said: "This was a nasty attack. I am keen to trace anybody who witnessed the incident."

Hitting the road:
Scott Kirk
'behind the wheel' of one of the pods

On board a pod

THE future is here following last week's launch of the first public trials of the driverless pods and OneMK reporter SCOTT KIRK was invited to have a go in one of them.

But just how good are they? What first surprised me as I entered the very cool-looking, futuristic vehicle is the fact that you have to wear a seatbelt, which was something I wasn't expecting.

It looks exactly like a car when you get in with the exceptions of it being limited to 5mph and, of course, the vehicle drives itself.

It was amazing to go on our journey without our companion ever touching the steering wheel or a pedal. Within a few seconds we were met by our first obstacle as there was a woman walking in front of us.

There are cameras around the pod taking pictures at a rate of 20 per second, which are mapped onto the on-board computer system, and anything that differs from the computer's memory means the pod stops immediately.

I was told in one trial the pod stopped for a pigeon, which flew in front of it.

Programme director with the Transport Systems Catapult Neil Fulton, who has been leading the project, said: "You usually get a few naysayers with a project like this but the reaction has been amazing from the public."

The next move is to find a way for the pods to warn people they are approaching because they are silent. An audible system is being looked at, as well as a lighting warning.

Whichever they decide, the future of transport in Milton Keynes is certainly looking bright.

Cloudy2Clear Announce Trusted Trader Partnership

Consumer champions Which? have now joined the thousands of customers who recognise that Cloudy2Clear Windows really are a business that you can TRUST. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has received the coveted 'Which? Trusted Trader' status after going through a rigorous accreditation process entirely focussed on customer service.

Group Managing Director Marcus McGee believes that Which? have endorsed Cloudy2Clear's long standing company policy of delivering the highest standards possible at all times. 'Our service is simple. If your double glazing has misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Whilst a number of tradespeople perhaps don't focus on customer care as much as they should do, we make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle.

Locally Cloudy2Clear service the Bedford, Milton Keynes &

Leighton Buzzard areas and manager Stephen Moon agrees that this approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated as both my customers and, obviously a body as nationally important as Which? now recognise.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Stephen a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

New kitchen to open at school

A NEW state-of-the-art kitchen is on the menu for a city school. Holne Chase Primary School based in Buckingham Road, Bletchley, will be able to serve nutritious hot dinners to its pupils thanks to the new facility.

Parents were invited to have a taste of the new fare the kitchen will be producing at an event last Wednesday. The kitchen will open to students on November 1.

Positive vibe as residents meet

BY SUE WEBB
editor@onemk.co.uk

THE city's top cop, one of its MPs and Fishermead Residents' Association all pledged to pull together to help the community at a recent meeting.

Organised by Mark Lancaster, MP for Milton Keynes North, residents were invited to voice their concerns about life on the estate at The Willows School and Early Learning Centre in Fishermead Boulevard.

Residents association chairman Terry Baines said: "For me, the assurance from Gez [Supt Chiariello] that neighbourhood policing is a priority means a lot.

"Neighbourhood policing is to be looked at even deeper and we will see more officers on the ground. I am very happy for that.

"I am also really pleased that we now have dialogue with the Somali community – we have struggled to break through – but they have promised to come to the next residents' meeting. That is great.

"The one thing I must ask residents to keep doing is to report any problems, however small, to the police on 101. If they don't know about problems, they can't allocate any resources. But I am really positive about how things went."

Is Your Pension Protected?

Almost all of us would not bat an eye lid at buying 'protection' for a phone or the contents of our houses, but what about pensions? Did you know that you actually have a cap on the amount you can pay into a pension before being taxed at 55% on the excess? As of April 2016, the Lifetime Allowance for each person was reduced from £1.25 million to £1 million. Now this might seem like a lot, and many people may never reach that limit, but it can catch you out without you realising!

I will give you an example.

- Joe is 60 and has worked as a Jeweller most of his life, building up quite a sizeable Final Salary Pension of £37,000 per annum on retirement at 65 with his current employer.
- He also has a few other pensions dotted about from various other employers in his career totalling roughly £400,000.
- When Joe first came to us he didn't believe that his pensions would ever exceed the £1,000,000 limit on his pensions.
- What he didn't realise is that his Final Salary Pension was actually valued at £740,000 (HM Revenue and Customs value Final Salaries differently to normal pensions). This meant that Joe's pension pots totalled £1,140,000.

Dilara Uyduran
Technical Analyst
at Wealth & Tax
Management

- In his current situation, Joe would be charged 55% on £140,000 – that's a £77,000 for simply being good at saving!

What's more, with 5 - 10 years before he was even going to think about retiring, it's likely that the value of his pensions would continue to increase, thus increasing his tax bill.

HMRC have a number of options for people in this situation. Individual Protection and Fixed Protection 2016 have been introduced for those people who want to protect their pension pot from this 55% tax charge. Both protections offer slightly different solutions based on whether or not you plan on making any more contributions in the future, but essentially could protect Joe's (and your own) pension pots to a value of £1.25 million before any tax is paid – and it's free to take out these protections! Joe has saved himself £77,000 by simply applying for protection on his pension.

Another point to note is that the government have only ever been reducing the lifetime allowance in recent years – in the space of 5 years the Lifetime allowance has been reduced from £1.8 million to £1 million. So, if you think you might be lucky enough to have over £1 million in your pension, then now is definitely the time to do something about it.

It is important to seek professional advice before electing for these protections to avoid being caught out by nuances in their terms. Making the wrong election could be very costly!

We are offering a free pension review worth £470 to the first 10 readers of OneMK who contact us by 28th October 2016.

New pub hoping to raise the bar in MK

BY SCOTT KIRK

scott.kirk@onemk.co.uk

A PUB that specialises in local beer has opened its first establishment outside of London – in Milton Keynes.

On Monday The Draft House opened in Midsummer Boulevard and features large copper tanks of unpasteurised brewery-fresh lager brought over weekly by tanker from Pilsen in the Czech Republic.

The new bar marks an extension of the group's tank beer relationship with Pilsner Urquell.

Draft House founder Charlie McVeigh said: "As always, local beer will be the key and we look forward to hanging out with and buying fab beer from all the local brewers round and about the town, including Concrete Cow and other Buckinghamshire heroes."

"We know Milton Keynes well because a lot of people have worked for us from MK."

"We feel like we've got a good feeling for the place and what really attracted us was

Time for a beer: Inside The Draft House, which opened this week the number of corporate enterprises, shoppers and residents in the area.

"Given the way that trends are going we think there is a real opportunity to do something different in Milton Keynes and hopefully we will make a bit of a splash."

"We've already had a lot of good feedback."

"Everyone is always interested in things being better and I think that people want to buy a beer where the money will go back on the product."

"People want to pay for great quality and I am so pleased that people have welcomed us and we're really grateful – we're really hoping the great feedback carries on."

The pub is based in the same building as the former Wetherspoon pub The Secklow Hundred, which closed in August.

Life-saving appeal aims to raise £1m

BY SCOTT KIRK
scott.kirk@onemk.co.uk

THE South Central Ambulance Charity has launched its campaign to raise £1million by Christmas 2019.

The charity exists to help ambulance services help the public in areas including Milton Keynes.

Money raised will be used to train and equip communities to save lives by providing more lifesaving equipment such as public access defibrillators and training and equipping volunteer community first responders to provide vital treatment to their neighbours while an ambulance is on its way.

Last Wednesday at intu Milton Keynes Brian Currie from Volkswagen Van Centre donated a new fully equipped Caddy to volunteers in Newport Pagnell.

It will be used to attend more than 100 emergencies each month.

Simon said: "How many of us have seen something bad happen to a friend, family member or stranger when there is no-one around for immediate help, not known what to do and later thought 'I wish I could have done something or made a difference'.

Dick Whittington panto is the cat's whiskers. . .

YES! It's that time of year when grown men struggle into stripy tights, heaving bosoms and too much mascara; when terrible jokes are cheered, villains are booed and the goodies live happily ever after. It's panto time! Hooray! But where does our story begin? Once upon a time. . .

CHAPTER ONE:

THIS is the tale (oops, sorry – tale) of a boy called Richard – but you can call him Dick.

It starts off as quite a sad story (ahhh!) but it ends up being pretty purrfect (Doh! I mean perfect).

When Dick was just a kitten (beg your pardon – when he was a lad) he had no-one to look after him (ahhh again). He had lost his parents somewhere along the way (careless or what?) and the only friend he had in the world was Tommy the cat.

In the little village where Dick lived, nobody had been further afield than, well, the nearby fields.

But rumour had it that in London, the big bustling city that teemed with greedy bankers, fat cat(!) businessmen and small furry squeaky rodents, the streets were paved with gold.

"I could do with an ingot or two of that," said Dick to Tommy.

"Mee-miaow too," said Tommy. And, heaving aloft his knapsack (which was really quite light because Dick was so poor he had no possessions) off they set. Uh-oh.

Alas and alack, guess what he found? Concrete. Or rather, because it was the 14th century, cobblestones. The streets were paved with nothing more than old rubble and some rather nasty, unmentionable deposits of rubbish (euch!).

Poor old Dick, all he had to stave off hunger and keep him from destitution was his cat. And he wasn't going to eat Tommy (yet...!)

CHAPTER TWO:

It's exciting isn't it? But, if you want to know what happens in chapter two, you will need to follow in the footsteps and pawprints of Dick and Tommy to Milton Keynes Theatre where Dick Whittington has most definitely got that X-Factor. Stacey Solomon, X-Factor finalist, Loose Women panellist and I'm a Celebrity... winner will be driving her for her temporary home in MK for Christmas, playing Fairy Bowbells, while Samantha Womack will be escaping the madness and mayhem of the Mitchell household in Eastenders' Albert Square to don the ears, tail and whiskers of that gnaw-ty bad-die, Queen Rat.

No panto is complete without a VSP (very silly person) and this year Milton Keynes is delighted to welcome back the silliest of them all, Kev Orkian, as Idle Jack.

With an all-star supporting cast, MK Theatre's magical panto Dick Whittington is shaping up to be the cat's whiskers!

Ring those bells and slap your thighs! You'll get your tickets if you're wise!

Remember to follow Milton Keynes Theatre on Twitter @MKTheatre and Facebook facebook.com/miltonkeynes theatre #MKDick for all the latest news and backstage panto land gossip.

Dick Whittington runs from Thursday, December 8 to Sunday, January 15. Tickets are available from the box office on 0844 871 7652 or at atgtickets.com/miltonkeynes

Lucy's a cut above

BY SCOTT KIRK

scott.kirk@onemk.co.uk

WE ALL like to make our food look pretty when we're about to eat our evening meal, but one woman really goes the extra mile with some of her incredible creations.

Lucy Gomes, 57, who has been making her amazing culinary delights for years, moved to Bletchley three years ago.

The Network Rail employee has carved hundreds, if not thousands, of edible wonders over the years, including a hedgehog out of an avocado, a carriage out of a watermelon and a swan made out of an apple.

And with Hallowe'en just around the corner, her more recent creations include sculpting a cat hanging off a branch out of a pumpkin and a skull made out of a butter-nut squash.

It's an incredible talent and Lucy says the best way to describe her inspiration is to compare it to when people see certain objects when they look at clouds in the sky because she sees certain faces, animals or plants in fruits and vegetables.

Inspiration can hit Lucy at any time. She once sculpted a cat from a nectarine after being inspired while eating her lunch one day.

She also said that it can take anywhere between half an hour and six hours to complete one of her designs.

"I like doing it because when food looks pretty it seems to taste better but sometimes it is so pretty that I can't eat it myself!" said Lucy, who lives with her three dogs and has trained herself to create her appetising masterpieces.

"As a child I liked to decorate things with apples and oranges and I started doing it when I had a period of time when I was out of work. People say 'how do you do that?' so I thought I would turn them into a book."

Lucy has shared her work through two e-books, which are available to buy on Amazon.com under the titles Creating Joy! Vegetables and Creating Joy! Fruit.

We are up for a laugh

IT'S time to get your laughing gear into action at The Red Dot bar at stadiummk as Comedy Cow returns on Friday.

The host for the evening is Lou Conran, who has just been supporting Sarah Millican on tour.

Lou gigs regularly up and down the country and has been delighting audiences with her naughty but nice delivery, friendly presence and instinctive wit.

Headlining is Craig Murray, pictured, the TV face of all those PlusNet ads.

Hailing from Dewsbury, West Yorkshire, the charming northerner is currently one of the hottest rising talents on the comedy circuit.

Craig cut his comedy teeth as resident compere at the award-winning The Funny Side... of Covent Garden sharing a stage with some of the very best comedy acts in the business including Harry Hill, Stewart Lee and even Hollywood legend Robin Williams.

An instant crowd pleaser with a charismatic, mock-confrontational style, Craig is now a highly sought-after act performing all over the UK.

Opening the show is Justin Panks with his skewed observational eye and the ability to approach seemingly ordinary subjects from extraordinary angles.

Justin strikes the perfect balance between the relatable and the outrageous. His tales of relationships, parenthood and life in general are raw, honest and, above all, funny.

Also on the bill is Stephanie Laing plus a new up-and-coming act yet to be named.

Tickets cost £10 (plus £1.05 booking fee). To avoid the booking fee email tickets@thecomedycow.co.uk for details on making a bank transfer.

The show starts at 8.15pm with last entry at 8pm.

AT FROSTS Garden Centre in Woburn Sands the half-term fun starts on Saturday and runs through to Hallowe'en.

Pumpkin scooping lets children carve their own Hallowe'en Jack O'Lantern out of the fruit grown by Frosts and a LED tealight will be placed inside their creation ready to take home.

Plus every child gets a cup of witches' brew included in the ticket price of £5.99.

The sessions are between 10am and 4pm.

Also the Hallowe'en-themed fun continues with the return of John Lawson's Circus, which is putting together a thrilling, fun, family show suitable for all ages. Tickets are £6.99. Children under 18 months go free.

There are shows daily at 10.30am, 12.30pm, 2.30pm and 4.30pm (no late show on Sundays).

Pre-booking is required on all events as spaces are limited. To book and for more details go to frostsgardencentres.co.uk/events or call 0800 954 9484.

sweettreats

ENJOY a haunting time at Gulliver's this half-term as the theme park at Newlands is getting ready to give families with young children a happy Hallowe'en.

Gulliver's Trick & Treat Week runs from Saturday until Sunday, October 30.

A trail invites children to take part in various Hallowe'en-themed activities at special scare stations to earn themselves a sweet treat.

Young spooks can mix up their own magic potions, enter the loudest scream contest and much more.

In addition, Gulliver's usual rides and attractions will be open, many of them given a macabre makeover and staffed by creepy characters.

Entrance to the park, open 10.30am-5pm, is £15.95 two days in advance. Saturday, October 29 costs £25.95, which includes a special Hallowe'en Show. Visit gulliversfun.co.uk/gullivers-land-milton-keynes

getexploring

NEXT week sees the start of half-term and there is plenty going on to keep little folks happy so you can enjoy yourselves too.

At Milton Keynes Museum in Wolverton the ever popular Professor Beamish is back capturing attentions and imaginations with weird and wonderful experiments.

Proud to be hands-on the museum positively encourages little fingers to handle the history under its roof. So whether they want to dial up some fun in the Connected Earth gallery with its fully working telephone exchange or prefer to play parlour games and make use of the pianola, youngsters are welcome to get involved.

And no visit is complete without a stroll along the wonderful Street of Shops and if they are missing school, a trip to the Victorian schoolroom will soon sort that out, with craft activities running throughout the week.

Motor enthusiasts young and old will love a trip to the Hall of Transport, which not only looks at transport through the ages but has a replica of a Red Bull Racing RB4.

Standard admission is £9 for adults and £6 for children. A family ticket is £26.

Half-term opening is 11am-4pm.

little horrors

THINGS are getting spooky at Xscape this half-term.

Visit between Saturday and Monday, October 31 when the mall will be getting a Halloween makeover and ghoulish entertainers will be running free blood-curdlingly fun family events and entertainment.

Crafts sessions run from noon to 5pm. On October 29 and 30 a magician will also be doing the rounds.

GUITARS, banjos, mandolins and fiddles are back for a fifth glorious evening of live acoustic Americana at York House in Stony Stratford.

Stony Break Down brings together the splendid talents of bands from Cambridge and Birmingham in the form of The Jackson Creek Band, pictured, Oakland Country, Band of Brothers, Stained Glass Bluegrass and Rocky Road Pilgrims.

The event is raising funds for dementia and cancer charities and all ticket sales will go to charity.

The event starts at 7.30pm on Saturday with the music from 8pm.

Tickets are £5 from wegottickets.com/event/370999 or at York House and Hollywood Music in Stony Stratford.

homecooking

MURATI'S is one of the more unusual eating establishments in Milton Keynes in that there is no alcohol served in the restaurant.

It gave the place quite a home-like feel when you walked in to see people drinking their own beverages – of course I didn't realise that heading in, so that's worth knowing before you go there!

But booze doesn't make the world go round and there is a great ambience to the place that makes you feel very relaxed.

I plumped for a tagliatella carbonara, which for a cost of £8 I didn't think was too bad.

It was a lovely home-cooked meal and wasn't anything too fancy, which for a pasta dish I don't think you necessarily want.

I wish I had gone for a pizza because they looked tremendous, and were served on what looked like wooden plates, which made for a good sight.

There is definitely a unique feel to the way this place goes about business.

The staff were also pleasant enough and while there's not much to look at outside the pizzeria apart from a car wash, you'll be more enamoured with what is inside.

THE dates have now been revealed for the annual Keith Emmett and Sons Funfair and Fireworks in Campbell Park.

It's always an amazing night and we now know the funfair will be open from Thursday, October 27 right through until Sunday, November 6 when the fireworks themselves go up around 8pm. All the details are at heart.co.uk.

Also, make sure you have Friday, November 11 in your diary, because that's the day that Santa makes his magical arrival at the centre:mk and takes up residence in his grotto in Middleton Hall.

Last year he landed on the roof in Queen's Court and we hear there is an equally fun evening planned! All the details, when we have them, will appear at heart.co.uk

Finally, we would love you to join us for a very special charity screening of Home Alone II at Cineworld at Xscape next month. It'll be 25 years since the film was first released and for a donation of just £5 to Heart's charity – Global's Make Some Noise – you can be there! And in case you need reminding, this is Home Alone Lost in New York. . . Kevin McAlister boards the wrong plane and ends up in New York while his family fly to sunny Florida for Christmas!

To book tickets and to find out more head to heart.co.uk but do it quickly, last year we completely sold out!

Tune in to Heart Breakfast with Stuart Miles and Katy Hill on Heart 103.3 FM, DAB, at heart.co.uk or via the Heart mobile app.

Home to very successful folk

FOLK-rock band Mumford and Sons' second studio album, Babel, has so far been their most successful topping the charts in both the UK and the US last year and selling over two million copies. It has also been the UK's fastest-selling rock album of the decade so far.

The band has come a long way since it formed in 2007. It now has three hugely successful albums under its belt, is internationally successful and has been given several gongs including a Brit and six Grammy Awards.

Mumford & Sons has also headlined at Glastonbury and its key members are collectively said to be worth £54 million, while founding musician Marcus Mumford recently married actress Carey Mulligan.

Not bad for a bunch of former students from SW London.

For the album cover of Babel the four founders – Marcus Mumford, Ben Lovett, Winston Marshall and Ted Dwane – all chose to pose in Charles Baker Place, a former industrial site in Wandsworth, SW London.

But the band might not recognise it now. Developer Chester Row has moved in and is renovating the existing Victorian buildings and constructing new homes as well.

Dedicated Mumford & Sons fans can snap up the properties now for sale including three-bedroom cottages, four-bedroom mews houses and five-bedroom townhouses.

Prices at the development start at £1.175m and rise to £2.7m for the larger properties.

It's got a nice landing

EDDIE the Eagle is the only British Olympic competitor to find fame and fortune from coming last in his chosen sport.

His persistence and hard work at mastering ski jumping during the run up to the 1988 Calgary Olympics, and subsequent plucky performance during two competitions, garnered Edwards millions of fans back at home and across the world.

But there's more to Eddie than meets the eye. Although he's a source of amusement here, before he took up jumping Edwards narrowly missed getting into the national downhill squad and is taken seriously in his adopted homes of Finland and Canada.

He's also recently been working in TV, including commentating on Channel 4's reality TV programme The Jump and also participating in a similar ITV programme called Splash with Tom Daley.

And this year a film based loosely on his Olympic story was released starring Taron Egerton and Hugh Jackman. Some of the scenes portraying Eddie's earlier life in Britain were filmed on a street in Harlsden, North London that has become a regular location for movie and music video makers.

As well Eddie the Eagle, Stephenson Street has featured in 1965 movie The Ipcress File starring Michael Caine, 2002 TV drama series Foyle's War, and the 1982 video for Madness's chart topper Our House.

■ A home is now for sale on Stephenson Street with agent emooov (03339 392719) for £595,000. A recently-renovated two-bedroom terraced house with a garden at the rear.

Gore's Italian cliff-hanger

Author, screenplay writer, intellectual and activist Gore Vidal was no stranger to controversy. He locked horns with actor Charlton Heston over his script for 1959 epic Ben Hur and courted controversy with his 1948 novel The City and the Pillars, which tackled homosexuality head on during a period of extreme conservatism.

He was also famous for his public and often violent spats with other leading American writers including Truman Capote and Norman Mailer.

Such notoriety persuaded Vidal to leave the US during the 1960s and move to Italy where he continued to work as a writer and screen player.

His home in Italy was La Rondinaia, a villa originally built for an English banker in the 1930s. It clings to the vertiginous Amalfi Coast in the region of Salerno, a strip of mountainous coastline that's both a UNESCO World Heritage Site and a hugely popular tourist destination, particularly among Americans.

Vidal lived with his partner Howard Austen at La Rondinaia for thirty years and entertained many of Hollywood's then A-listers including Lauren Bacall, Paul Newman, Susan Sarandon and even Hilary Clinton, before ill health forced him to return to America.

His footprint can still be seen at the property. He installed its pool from which bathers can enjoy panoramic views of the coast.

The four-storey property has 38 rooms including six bedrooms and seven bathrooms as well as a terrace, olive groves and extensive gardens.

■ It is for sale at approximately £19m through Italian property website www.gate-away.com

Home where Johnny went wild

TV presenter Johnny Morris was for decades the king of children's entertainment, famous for his story telling and animal impersonations on the hugely popular BBC programme Animal Magic.

For more than 400 episodes from 1962 until 1983 Morris was to be seen accompanied by his ring-tailed lemur, which spent much of each show on his shoulder.

The programme revolved around Morris being the uniformed and peak-capped 'keeper' and engaging in comic dialogue with animals from Bristol Zoo, whom he also voiced.

His style of TV presenting eventually fell out of fashion and the show was axed, but for many children who watched TV during its three-decade run, Morris introduced the natural world to them in an accessible and entertaining way.

His broadcasting story started in the Wiltshire village of Aldbourne near Marlborough. He lived in the village as a young man and used to tell stories in the local pub. During one beery session he was spotted by visiting BBC producer Desmond Hawkins who hired Morris on the spot.

He used Morris initially as a radio storyteller before moving him on to TV roles but, despite his later national appeal, Morris lived in Aldbourne all his life with wife Eileen, first in a small cottage and later in Pond House on The Square.

He died in 1999 following complications from diabetes.

His former home is now for sale. It has been substantially renovated since Morris lived there and the 18th century Grade II listed semi has four bedrooms and overlooks a duck pond.

It is for sale through agent Humberts (01672 519 222) for £560,000.

Scene of Luther's lofty finale

FOR FANS of TV crime drama Luther starring Idris Elba and Ruth Wilson the finale of the third series came to a climactic ending on a rooftop as Luther, Tom Marwood, Mary Day and Alice Morgan engaged in a mildly silly armed standoff.

The scene was designed to illustrate the troubled and violent detective's moral dilemma in the flesh; was he ultimately a good or a bad person?

Such ethical undercurrents have helped make John Luther's character and the series a huge hit both in the UK and in the US since it first aired in 2010, featuring gritty plots set against shadowy backdrops.

This included locations such as the City's Barbican Estate as well as in Elephant & Castle, Bethnal Green, Waterloo Station, Shoreditch and Docklands.

But the rooftop climax of series three was shot on a rooftop terrace within Keybridge, a large new apartment development being built near Vauxhall by developers FABRICA and Mount Anvil.

When completed it will be the tallest residential block in the UK and include 260 apartments.

"Vauxhall is establishing itself as a new creative hub and is home to a string of galleries including the Gasworks and the Amstel, as well as Damien Hirst's eagerly awaited Newport Street Gallery," says Rupert Dawes of Knight Frank.

Keybridge will also include access to facilities that work-obsessed Luther would never use including a gymnasium, spa, swimming pool, sauna and steam rooms.

Prices at the development start at £575,000 for a studio apartment. The first properties will be ready next year.

Nissan GT-R NISMO breaks cover

By: Stewart Smith

THE flagship of the Nissan GT-R range – the GT-R NISMO – will go on sale from November 1, with a price in the UK of £149,995.

The high-performance race car for the road has power supplied from a twin-turbocharged 3.8-litre V6 delivering 600bhp – 30bhp more than any other car in the range.

The engine features a pair of high-flow, large diameter turbochargers used in GT3 motor racing competition, and power is sent to all four wheels via a six-speed dual-clutch paddle shift gearbox.

Like the standard GT-R, the GT-R NISMO's front end features a new face with a dramatic new bumper.

However, for the NISMO it's made entirely from carbon fibre to reduce weight.

To help cool the car's high-output engine, the dark chrome V-motion grille has been enlarged to collect more air.

The redesign has been shaped to improve airflow around the vehicle and generate a high level of downforce, while at the same time directing air around the wheels to improve the aerodynamics.

The GT-R NISMO generates more downforce than any other Nissan production car to date, to create high-speed stability.

The performance of the all-wheel-drive GT-R NISMO has also been upgraded, thanks in part to the standard model's significantly reinforced body structure. This allowed the engineering team to further refine the GT-R NISMO's shock absorbers, springs and stabilisers.

This upgrade results in the car's improved slalom times and superior cornering performance, both of which are nearly two per cent better than the previous version.

Despite its more potent nature, the new GT-R NISMO is said to have better overall balance than before, evolving into a car that can be enjoyed on regular roads as well as race circuits.

A more premium and sophisticated interior is one of the key enhancements to the new GT-R and the NISMO version is no exception.

The redesigned dashboard, steering wheel and centre armrest are covered with high-quality Alcantara leather. Unique to this version are the leather-covered Recaro carbon bucket seats with red inserts.

Suzuki Baleno 1.0 Boosterjet SZ5

By: John Murdoch

THERE is no shortage of choice in the supermini class and Suzuki has a couple of strong contenders in the shape of its popular Swift and the recently launched Baleno.

I have been sampling the very practical Baleno which first went on sale in June and is already proving popular with private buyers.

It may seem odd to release the Baleno when the company already has the excellent Swift competing in this crowded market sector but Suzuki feels that there is room for both with the Swift catering for sporty buyers and the Baleno competing on price and practicality.

The Baleno sits on a new platform which will also feature in the next generation Swift and as it is very light this helps the Baleno shine in the performance and economy fronts.

Available with a choice of two power units and two trim levels, the talented Baleno costs from £12,999.

The five-door Baleno is a product of Suzuki's new 'Liquid Flow' design theme and while it is not exciting to look at it is tidy.

Style features include a black grille housing the Suzuki badging, a rear spoiler, chrome tailgate trim, LED daytime running lights, rear privacy glass, electrically-adjustable heated door mirrors and front fog lights as well as 16-inch alloy wheels.

For a supermini it offers bags of technology including sat nav with Apple CarPlay, Bluetooth connectivity, a decent sound system, a clear infotainment screen, a three-spoke leather covered steering wheel, smart nicely lit instrument dials and lots more.

The materials may not be as good as the class leaders but the cabin is user-friendly and roomy. Four adults can travel in real comfort and five could travel for shorter journeys - with head and legroom in back surprisingly generous.

There is bags of standard equipment, such as automatic air conditioning, automatic headlamps, guide me home light function, adaptive cruise control, keyless entry and a DAB digital radio.

The Baleno boasts a 320-litre boot and that can be increased to 756 litres with the 60:40 split-folding rear seats dropped flat. In addition to increase its practical credentials there is a glovebox, central bin, door pockets and a small tray just in front of a couple of cup holders.

Two engines are available in the Baleno - a 1.2 SHV or Smart Hybrid Vehicle which is expected to account for only 15 per cent of sales - or the super little three cylinder 1.0-litre engine fitted to the test car.

It might be small but the willing three-pot, 1.0 Boosterjet is up to the job. It might take 11.4 seconds to reach 62mph but it feels quicker and can go on to 124mph, so it has no problem cruising at motorway speeds.

It can deliver combined fuel economy of 62.7mpg with carbon emissions of 105g/km. Thanks to two fairly long journeys I averaged considerably more than the claimed figure.

Fitted with a five-speed manual gearbox the Baleno's powertrain has bags of character and only felt a bit wheezy on really steep gradients. In town it is an ideal companion and very comfortable on longer journeys.

The Baleno is built in India but feels well screwed together and comes with a long list of safety equipment including anti-lock brakes with electronic brake force distribution, six airbags, a tyre pressure monitoring system, radar brake support with brake assist function, ISOFIX child seat anchorages and childproof door locks.

The competition is certainly fierce but the Baleno is well worth considering if you are looking for a practical, value for money supermini that delivers on all fronts.

GALAXY FLIES OFF FORECOURTS FASTEST

BY : MIKE TORPEY

THE 2012 Ford Galaxy has been crowned the UK's fastest selling used car in September, according to independent research conducted by car site AutoTrader.

The Ford, with diesel engine and automatic transmission, took just 12 days to sell, four days clear of its nearest rival.

Data also shows the Ford Kuga was seventh fastest used car to leave UK showrooms, while in four of the UK regions a Ford used model was quickest to sell.

That included east England where there were five Ford models in the region's top ten fastest selling used cars, including the 2015 Ford Kuga diesel automatic that ranked first with an average of 27 days to sell.

10 FACTS ABOUT THE VOLKSWAGEN GOLF

BY: STEWART SMITH

THE countdown has begun to a major update for the Volkswagen Golf. The best seller has been around for more than four decades and an entire generation has been named after - known as Generation Golf in Germany. No other European car has sold better. By the end of last year, 32,590,025 Golf cars had been sold. In effect, over the last 42 years someone, somewhere in the world, decides to buy a new Golf every 40 seconds. Record-breaking statistics like these have shaped the car's history which will move on with the announcement of some key changes early next month.

Here are 10 facts about the life of the VW Golf:

1. In 2002 the Golf overtook the Beetle as the most popular car in the world when it notched up 21,517,315 sales.
2. By 1988 the Golf had already broken through the ten million vehicles barrier.
3. In 2003, a Golf Mk1 driver broke through one million kilometres on the clock. More "millionaires" followed.
4. The most expensive Golf was a Mk5 model, once owned by the first owner was Pope Benedict XVI, which was auctioned in 2005 for €188,938.
5. German Chancellor Angela Merkel's first Golf, a Mk2, was auctioned in 2012 and sold for €10,156.
6. More than 2,000 new Golf cars have been produced and sold every day for the past four decades.
7. Only 730 days after its debut, the millionth Golf was delivered.
8. The most powerful Golf ever was the GTI W12-650 with 650bhp on tap. It was presented in 2007 at the GTI meet at Wörthersee.

MITSUBISHI LAUNCHES SPECIAL EDITION PHEV

BY: STEWART SMITH

A HIGH specification special edition of the Outlander plug-in hybrid called the Juro is being released by Mitsubishi. The Juro is being offered at £32,749, the same price as the Outlander PHEV GX3h+ on which it is based, and comes with a touchscreen CD/DVD infotainment unit with TomTom satellite navigation, smartphone integration and DAB radio as standard. The exterior is enhanced with a new-look to the bonnet featuring a prominent Outlander emblem. Mitsubishi claims that the Outlander hybrid is the UK's best-selling plug-in hybrid electric vehicle and the new offering comes fully loaded with features, including cruise control, 18-inch alloy wheels, heated front seats, the Mitsubishi PHEV app allowing for remote control of certain functions and dual-zone climate control. The Outlander PHEV can travel up to 32 miles in electric mode alone and has been acknowledged as a breakthrough model in the UK's emerging plug-in hybrid sector. With a rechargeable petrol-electric powertrain the Outlander PHEV has a theoretical fuel return of 156mpg and emissions of 42g/km making it hugely attractive to business users. In 2013, the year before its arrival, the total plug-in hybrid market across all marques stood at just 989. Mitsubishi has sold more than 25,000 Outlander PHEVs in the UK since its launch in 2014, making it the nation's favourite plug-in vehicle.

NON-LEAGUE FOOTBALL

Ambitions for the future

New beginnings: Ian Ford, head of football at Newport Pagnell Town FC, has big plans for the club

BY CIARAN THOMAS

editor@onemk.co.uk

NEWPORT Pagnell Town have big ambitions for the future as the club's new hierarchy aim to improve the stadium and be promoted two divisions to the Southern League Premier within five years.

The Swans are Milton Keynes' second biggest football club after MK Dons, but currently play in the United Counties League Premier Division, step five of the non-league pyramid.

Following a restructure at the club, Ian Ford has taken over as head of football, leading the newly formed football committee, which are looking to close the gap on Dons, with their chairman Pete Winkelman supporting their progress.

However, to be eligible for promotion, various improvements need to be made to their Willen Road ground, including a new stand, to increase seating capacity from 200 to 300, as well as new turnstiles, pitch perimeter fencing and a changing room extension.

"The gap between us and the MK Dons is huge," Ford said.

"We need to close the gap by getting Newport's first team up a couple of divisions.

"I've been at the club for 12 years as a coach, but I've never run a football club in my life, I've no idea what I'm doing but by talking to people in the game and getting contacts I'm learning very quickly and using that knowledge. The club have never played at a level higher than their current standard, but Ford believes Newport Pagnell is big enough to sustain a step three club.

Rising up the divisions will require double the player budget, something the club plan to be able to fund through increased gates and sponsorship.

The club is also looking into installing a 3G pitch at their ground.

In Spartan South Midlands League Division Two, Clean Slate were 2-1 winners over Tring Corinthians and United MK drew 2-2 at Mursley United. ICE HOCKEY

Another mixed weekend for MK Lightning

MK LIGHTNING trashed Bracknell Bees but were beaten by league leaders Telford Tigers 3-2 on Sunday, losing ground at the top of the English Premier League.

The loss saw Lightning fall three points behind Telford in second in the table, after dispatching the Bees 8-2 at Arena MK on Saturday, with Bobby Chamberlain, Lewis Hook and Milan Baranyk all on target twice.

Tigers were also victorious on Saturday, setting up the meeting in Telford with the sides only separated by a single point but with Lightning missing captain Adam Carr and Mikolaj Lopuski with injuries, it was the hosts who came out on top.

Telford took the lead 30 seconds after the midway point through Joe Miller and Matty Davies doubled the lead.

Lightning hit straight back as Hook and Lewis Christie combined to set up Glenn Billing just 16 seconds later. Jason Silverthorn scored five minutes into the final period.

Tom Carlon's first goal since his return to MK kept Lightning's hopes alive with 10 minutes to play, but they couldn't find an equaliser, despite withdrawing goaltender Prezmy Odrobny in the final moments.

Taylor leaves it late with hat-trick to break hearts

scott.kirk@onemk.co.uk

MK DONS' home form hoodoo continues to haunt them as they were pegged back by two late goals to draw 3-3 with Bristol Rovers at stadiummk last night.

Dons looked to have the points in the bag but Matty Taylor popped up very late with a hat-trick to break Dons' hearts and continue their misery at home, which stretches back to March after their last win at stadiummk against QPR.

Dons have been lacking in luck at home over the past few games but they were given a large slice of it in the 16th minute when Ben Reeves' beautiful long-range strike was dropped by Kelle Roos. The ball fell kindly to the feet of Dean Bowditch, who slotted the ball home to put Dons 1-0 up.

A minute later and Ryan Colclough hit the bar with a thunderous effort and stadiummk was bouncing.

That atmosphere went up a notch further when Dons made it 2-0 after 24 minutes. Dean Lewington crossed the ball in and George B Williams rose majestically to head it beyond Roos and double the advantage.

Just a minute into the second half Bristol Rovers were right back in the game through Matty Taylor's strike to make it 2-1.

But Ben Reeves restored Dons two-goal cushion with a great solo run, cutting inside and drilling a low shot that nutmegged the keeper on 66 minutes to put Dons 3-1 ahead.

But there was to be heartbreak at the end after Taylor scored from close range with three minutes left to make it 3-2 and, unbelievably, he completed his hat-trick a minute after that to break home hearts.

Meanwhile, Dons were beaten 2-1 at league leaders Scunthorpe United on Saturday. Kieran Agard put Dons ahead but a Paddy Madden second half double downed Dons.

On Monday night, Dons were drawn at home to Evo-Stik Northern Premier Division outfit Spennymoor Town in the first round of the FA Cup. That match will take place on the weekend from November 4 to 7.

Kelly is English champion after Lamoure victory

BLETCHLEY kickboxing star Kelly Haynes became English Champion on Saturday night as she defeated Mina Lamoure in London to win the vacant ISKA English 52KG title.

Haynes won a unanimous decision, with judges awarding in her favour for all three rounds, to give the 32-year-old the title at the Indigo 02, the fight taking place as part of the Muay Thai Grand Prix.

The title wasn't the only prize she brought back to Milton Keynes however, as she stole the show with a performance that was so impressive she was awarded the fighter of the night trophy.

With 21 fights over the course of the event, it was no mean feat as Haynes increased her growing reputation that could lead to a fight in Thailand, as well as other exciting opportunities next year.

More than 100 fans travelled to the capital to support Haynes and as she returned to be reunited with nine-year-old son Archie she said she was still overwhelmed at what she had achieved.

She said: "There was some really good fighters on the show so to be nominated fighter of the night that was more of an achievement than winning my title."

"I wanted this win so badly, I so wanted to win this title, I worked and trained for this, sacrificed a lot for my training and did everything I possibly did."

"I just feel overwhelmed with it all, my supporters are just amazing, I think 140 people came down, the place was roaring when I came out."

"There was so many people there I couldn't get my head around it and can't thank everyone enough and hope they enjoyed the night because I am buzzing so much."
